

Income Enhancer – Complete Income Protector

Get an additional amount to enhance your income if you can no longer perform your occupation due to an injury, critical illness or an impairment

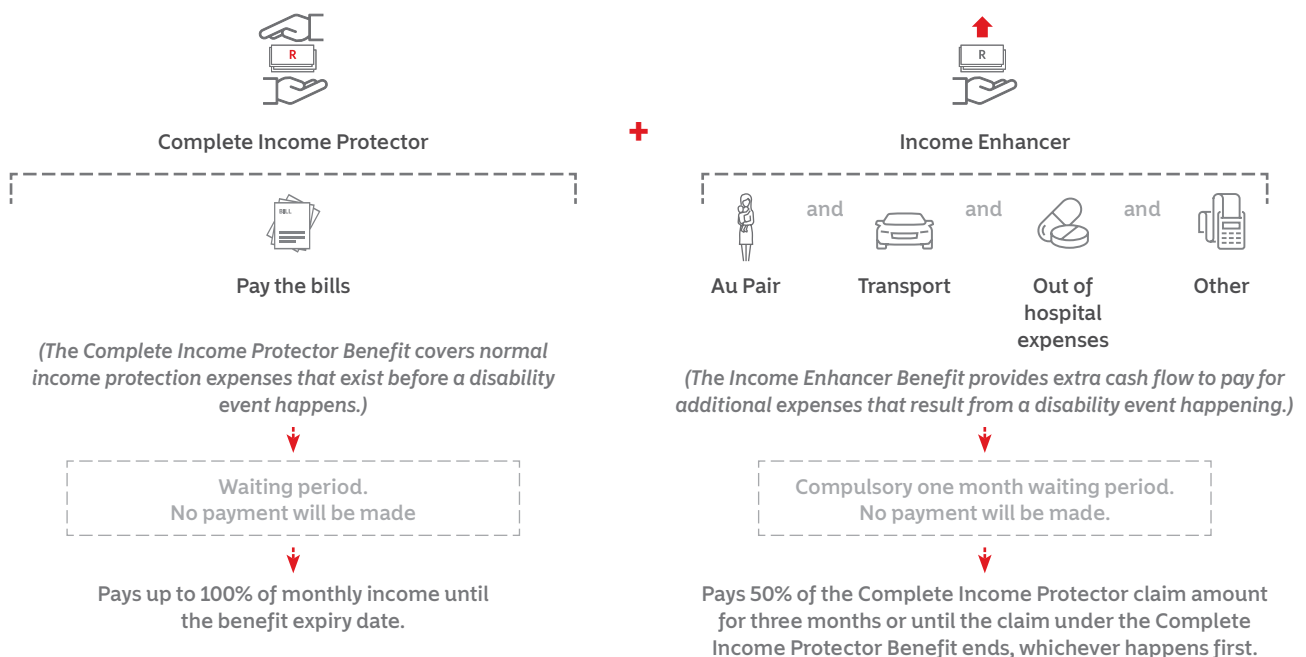

You work to earn an income. If something happens to you that causes an injury, critical illness or an impairment and you're no longer able to earn an income from your occupation, it can cause a huge financial burden on you and your family.

You still need to make sure that life goes on, and you may need to pay for other unplanned expenses like out-of-hospital medical costs, extra transport costs to get you around, or caregiver costs to look after you or your family.

Earn an income even when you can no longer perform your occupation

We know that in the initial period after a serious event, everyone needs extra money on top of what they normally earn.

The Income Enhancer is an add-on benefit to the Complete Income Protector - it will pay you 50% more on your Complete Income Protector Benefit to cover unplanned lifestyle costs during the initial period you're away from work because of a serious illness or injury.
